

Anthony S. Mangeri: The Right Choice for IAEM-USA Secretary

Anthony S. Mangeri is a seasoned professional with extensive experience in emergency management, public safety, and crisis communication. His candidacy embodies the theme: "The right people, doing the right things, for the right reasons." His comprehensive background and unwavering commitment make him an ideal candidate to fulfill the responsibilities of IAEM-USA Secretary on the USA Board.

The IAEM-USA Secretary's role involves several key responsibilities, including maintaining accurate records of meetings, ensuring effective communication within the organization, managing official documents, and supporting the implementation of board decisions. The Secretary is also tasked with upholding the organization's bylaws and policies, ensuring transparency, and fostering a collaborative environment among members. These responsibilities require a candidate with attention to detail, strong organizational skills, a commitment to transparency, and a deep understanding of the field of emergency management—qualities that Anthony exemplifies.

Throughout his career, Anthony has demonstrated exceptional leadership and dedication to public safety. He has served on numerous boards, including multiple elected terms as the IAEM-USA Region 2 President, IAEM-USA Executive Board representing all IAEM-USA Regional Presidents, InfraGard Philadelphia IMA Board of Governors, American Red Cross Chapter Board, NJ Emergency Preparedness Association Board of Directors, and Goodwill Fire Company President. His extensive experience in board governance underscores his ability to manage complex organizational structures and drive strategic initiatives.

In addition to his practical experience, Anthony has a strong academic background. As a professor, he continues to shape the next generation of emergency managers. His teachings emphasize the importance of ethical leadership, effective communication, and strategic planning. His expertise in these areas ensures that he can provide valuable insights and guidance as IAEM-USA Secretary.

Anthony's commitment to crisis communication is evident in his work preparing crisis communications strategies and their importance in the emergency management field. He understands the critical role of clear and timely communication in managing reputational risks and transparently informing stakeholders.

Anthony also has a unique perspective on the ethical considerations in emergency management, having authored several articles providing insight into ethical leadership and decision-making in emergency management. His focus on equitable emergency management and inclusive disaster response and recovery operations highlights his dedication to ensuring that all populations are considered and supported in emergency planning and response.

Anthony S. Mangeri's candidacy for IAEM-USA Secretary reflects his belief in the power of doing the right things for the right reasons at the right time. His extensive experience in board governance, academic contributions, and unwavering commitment to ethical and effective emergency management make him the ideal choice.

With Anthony as IAEM-USA Secretary, our organization can look forward to a future where emergency management practices are continually guided by principles of integrity, inclusivity, and strategic excellence.
