Talks

...PRESENTS

By: Valerie Lucas-McEwen, Conference Committee Member

This is the 3rd year of the popular EMvision talks. Modeled on the well-known TED™ Talk format, it has proved to be a great way to communicate thought leadership in emergency management. This year five presenters will each deliver a 7-minute presentation on a range of topics.

A Preparedness Odyssey – Diane Logsdon,
President, The Logsdon Group

Volunteer Disaster Teams – How to Use the Gift You Didn't Ask For – Michael Noone,
Regional Disaster Coordination, County of Los Angeles

No More Waiting on Tables: A Fresh Take on Conducting and Evaluating Hypothetical Biothreat Response Exercises – George (“Sandy”) Sanzero, Manager, Sandia National Laboratories

“Contagious Ideas & the Diffusion of Innovation” – Christopher Tarantino, MEP, CMCP, CEO, Epicenter Media & Training

Cultural Collaboration in Emergency Management – Wayne Bergeron, LTC (Ret.) Ass't Prof., University of North Alabama

IAEM Spouse Program

By: Bettina Coleman, Conference Committee Member

The IAEM Spouse program is a great opportunity to meet your fellow travelers, touch base with past friends, and coordinate your plans for exploring the beautiful area of Long Beach, California. It includes daily activities and opportunities to enjoy the area while meeting fellow spouses of IAEM Conference attendees.

For $275, your spouse will receive admittance to all conference general and breakout sessions, EMEX including lunch & receptions, Sunday's Welcome & Networking Party, Monday's Lunch and Speaker and Wednesday's President's Reception & Banquet. For more information on the Spouse Program visit the website.

The IAEM Spouse program is for those traveling with Conference Attendees and who are not involved in emergency management. To register, a conference attendee must register you as a guest.

Need Approval to Attend IAEM 2017?

By: Mike Gavin, Conference Committee Chair

Review the online program ahead of time to show your supervisor the return on investment to gain approval! You can show the cost difference of registering early versus later, and present the video testimonials to show how the networking can save you time and money on future projects.

The Conference website has tools you can use to get approval to attend. Make sure you follow the steps to demonstrate your organization's return on investment. See you all in Long Beach!

IAEM Members Save on Registration Fees for Emergency Management Institute (EMI) and EMAP Training Courses

Registration now open!

As added member benefit, IAEM has significantly reduced the fees for the EMI training. As an IAEM member you will SAVE $100's off last year's registration fees for EMI pre-conference training.

Plan your trip today to Long Beach, California for the IAEM 65th Annual Conference and attend one of our many highly sought after EMI training courses. New this year, the Emergency Management Standard Training Course (EMAP) will be offered as a pre-conference training instead of post to make it easier on your travel schedules.

$25/day - IAEM members attending the conference at the full or basic registration rates, including students

$100/day - IAEM members attending the conference at a reduced or complimentary rate or only attending EMI or EMAP pre-conference training sessions

$196/day - Non-member rate
